"Susie, my actions must have shown—that is, you must have—I mean that you must be aware that—that.—"

Pause here for a while, but keep your fiegers firmly focked! She may cough and try to turn the subject off by asking the following: "There is a lade in New Joseph Walton, Chambers and John Dippoid."

Stop again and give her hand a gentle squeeze; she may give a yank to get it away, or she may got. In either case it argues well for you. Wait about five minutes and then go on:

"The past year has been a very happy one to me, but I hope that future years will be happier. However, that depends entirely on you. I am here to-night to know—that is to ask you—I mean I am here to-night to hear from your own sweet lips the one sweet—"

How to Get Custom.

Some mechanics when asked for a good article, reply that they can't find customers for any but the common and low priced. This is probably, in nine cases out of ten, a great mistake. If you cases out of customers, give them your that the netition could aver one or want good customers, give them your best articles at a fair price. This is how the thing works:-

Twenty-nine years ago, when David Maydole was a roadside blacksmith, at Norwich, New York, six carpenters came to the village from the next county to work upon a new church, one of whom, having left his hammer behind, came to the blacksmith's to get one made, there being none in the village store.

"Make me a good one," said the carpenter, "ag good a one as you know now?"

"But," said the young blacksmith, who had already considered hammers, and had arrived at some notion of what a nammer ought to be, and had a proper contempt for cheapness in all its forms, "perhaps you don't want to pay for as good a nammer as I can make."

"Yes, I do; I want a good hammer."
And so David Masdole made a good

And so David Maydole made a good hammer, that perfectly satisfied the carpenter. The next day the man's five companions came, each of them wanting just such a hammer, and when they were done the employer came and ordered two more. Next the storekeeper of the village ordered two dozen, which were bought by a New York tool merchant, who left standing orders for as many such hammers as David Maydole could make. And from that day to this he has gone on making hammers, until now he has 115 men at work. He never tried to compete with others in price, because other men had done so. His only care has been to make a perfect hammer, to make as many such as people wanted to make as many such as people wanted and no more, and to sell them at a fair price.—[Ex.

Japanese Persimmons.

The San Francisco Alta says: "When the attempt was made to establish a Japanese colony and the cultivation of the tea plant in California, we heard much of the Japanese persimmen, which was praised as a valuable fruit. Many young tea and persimmen plants were abandoned, and we heard nothing for years of the Japanese persimmen; but several of the trees, fortunately, leli into the possession of W. W. Hollister, of Santa Barbara, and they have now commenced to bear, producing a fruit shaped like a tomato, three inches in diameter and two inches deep, with five faintly-marked lobes, brilliant orange in color, with a skin as smooth and glossy: s glass. The appearance and flavor are so fine that when numereus enough to be sold in the market—and that may not be for years—many will be bought for curiosity and ornament. The Virginian persimmon, about which there has been some talk of late, can not compete with the Japanese species." The San Francisco Alta says: "When Progs in Sandstone. Progs in Sandstone.

At the Shieldmuir pit, near Motherwell, Wales, belonging to the Summerhe Iron Company, an extraordinary discovery has been made. Mr. Wilson, manager, while superintending the driving of a mine through sandstone, was surprised to find from thirty to forty five young frogs issue from the center of a mass of the stone that had been disloded. The level in which the trogs were found is 330 feet under the surface, and the mass of stone was fully 100 yards from the pit bottom. No crevice or dissure could be observed in the stone, and all who were present are positive that the frogs came from a cavity in the center of the block. The frogs, apparently quite fresh after their imprisonment, at once made for a pool of water, in which element they were of course quite at bone.—[Forester.

We see each day fortunes made in Wall street upon very small it restments to begin with, and yet we find those who hold back for fear their small means will be swamped; they look on and see their neighbors invest their 52 and $ W and realize $500 to $1,000 profit in the few meshod of operating in "Rock privileges," where is no risk beyond the cost of the privilege, which is only one dollar a share. If you desire information how to operate successfully, send to Buckwalter & Co., Bankers and Brokurs, 10 Wall street, for their explanatory circular, which they mail Park, showing "how it is done."
